We Met The Space People - The Story of the Mitchell Sistersby Helen Mitchell of Clarksburg, West Virginia*A contact claim from 1959, now on the Sacred Texts web site

It all began when my sister, Betty, and I were in a downtown St. Louis coffee shop. We had been shopping and had stopped off to get a coke and refresh ourselves. While in the coffee shop we were approached in a very mannerly way by two gentlemen dressed in grey suits, who managed to interrupt into our private conversation. As they spoke to us we found that they were from a huge mother-craft orbiting the planet Earth, and that their names were Elen and Zelas. They told us that we had been very closely watched by the Space People for the last eight years, and that our progress had been noted off and on from the time of our birth. Betty and I were both inclined to think that someone was playing a silly joke on us and we laughed when they told us this, but they were not laughing and were serious and stern. We were strangely shocked, however, when they told us of a few incidents in our childhood that no one could have possibly known except the family. They told us that we had been selected as contacts by the people of space to serve as channels through which they could give certain information to Earth, and that we had been carefully watched, as I stated before. They told us of the reasons why the space people were coming to Earth and that they were here to guide Earth along the lines of Brotherhood and Science.

We were very much amazed at their words, and we noted particularly the kindness and warmth that shone in their eyes. With a single glance from them we seemed to sense the vast wisdom and brotherhood which they must have lived among. After talking with us for a little over two hours they left and told us they would contact us again, but it was not until a week later that we were impelled to again return to the same coffee shop.

When we entered the door we again saw one of the Space Brothers, and he gave us instructions at that time for building a device whereby we could contact the Space People. His instructions were explicit and precise, for he warned us that unless we placed every piece of the device in the proper place we would not be able to contact them with it. We were not allowed to take the drawn diagram of the device with us, But we had to remember it as it was explained to us. When we obtained the proper pieces for the device we constructed it when we returned home, and were happy to find the results were satisfactory. We were amazed when we tuned in on the mother craft and spoke with the same person we had earlier seen. We were also allowed to speak with the commander of the craft, who at that time was known as Alna. In the following six months we spoke many times with the space people through the device, and received much information about their homes, sciences and craft.

In November of '57 I was alone in downtown St. Louis on business when I was again contacted by the space people and at their request went with them by automobile into Illinois where we drove to a heavily wooded area. There, I was told, was where they landed when they had business or contacts to make in St. Louis. Settled back behind an old barn was a circular craft that I judged to be approximately nine feet in height, and about 38 feet in diameter. It had a domed top, but no portholes. The sliding door was open and there was a uniformed operator sitting at the controls.

I was nervous although I knew no harm would come for me, and I was visibly shaking, but Zelas only smiled as though to reassure me. The flight to the mother craft took approximately 15 minutes, and I was told the magnetism of the small craft would not affect my watch since it would be balanced by the magnetism of my own body. However, while in the mother craft the magnetism of it caused my watch for stop, and it was de-magnetized in a small machine before I left.

Inside the mother craft we entered the huge receiving room for the smaller craft. There were many huge machines in this room, and there were also many other uniformed men standing around obviously working upon the machines or moving them about. They glanced at us when we entered, but then returned to their work as before. The hall that we entered was softly lit and was curved both at the ceiling and corners. We entered the first room to the right which appeared to be a room for relaxing. There were divans and contoured chairs with white upholstery that had a thread or design of a golden hue woven in it. The room was meticulous and vast, and as I stood observing the beauty of it three uniformed men approached us. Their uniforms were of a blue-gray color with a slight metallic look, and I learned the jodphur type boots they wore were actually attached to the uniforms, and were not a separate piece of apparel. The uniforms were soft to the touch and the texture of velvet. I was then introduced to three men and learned that one was Alna, the commander of all craft operation upon Earth. Alna spoke with a very heavy accent, and was much darker than any of the others. His skin had a high bronze tint to it, as compared with the lighter complexions of the others.

From this room I was shown the control section where I was told our calls were received when we operated our device. Here they placed a call through to our telephone in St. Louis by adjusting a series of dials, and I was allowed to speak with Betty and tell her that I was with the Brothers. I was also shown a scope similar to a television screen, the only difference being this was at a slight elevation on the control counter, instead of standing up at eye level or in a box type cabinet which our television sets consist of. This scope could obviously reflect any particular building or house that the space people desired to observe, and when I looked at the scope when Alna requested me to do so, I could see the inside areas of my home and could see my sister, mother and the children moving about. It was as though the entire roof had been removed and only the walls remained of the house. When I asked them how this was done, they explained that the first set of vibrations that left the roof were erased and the vibrations of the furniture and people inside were received on the scope, and therefore it appeared as though the instruments in the control section were actually looking through the building.

From this section we entered another much larger control section and I watched other uniformed men going about their work with much deftness and swiftness. I was told then that we were going to dine, and when we entered the dining area it appeared as a vast empty room. However, tables and chairs rose from the floor section, and I dined with them after humbly and respectfully listening to a prayer Alna said in the Universal Tongue.

The food consisted of three different types, and a drink similar to apricot nectar was enjoyed. There was little conversation during the meal, and when all had almost finished Alna told me I could witness a dance performed by two of the Space Brothers. This dance was most unusual and fast, during which the two men passed a small object from one to the other, sometimes throwing it in the air and catching it before it fell upon the floor. I expressed my thanks to Alna for allowing me to see this, and when we left the dining area we moved down the hall to what obviously was an entertainment room where the Brothers spent many relaxing hours. Many men were in the room, some sitting at tables and others playing a game similar to our Shuffleboard. I was asked if I would like to try the game, and after watching Alna I understood simply how it was done.

A round colored disc about four inches in diameter was placed on the floor in a particular square, and by mind power alone the disc was to move across the floor to another particular square. This section of the floor was electrically charged and receptive to the thought waves leaving a person's mind. Alna took a blue disc that was handed to him and placed it on the floor causing it to move a considerable distance. Then I was handed a red disc and asked to try. I was doubtful if it would work for me, and the only thing I could think of was to silently command the disc to "Go." I was amazed when the disc moved slowly up the floor, but quite some distance from that of Alna's. When I glanced at my watch and noticed it had stopped, it brought Alna's attention and he said for this time he felt I should not be held up longer from my other activities, and that a second trip would be longer. It was then that he took my watch and placed it in a small machine in the first control section and then set it for me, obtaining the proper time from a scope that contained many symbols and crossed lines on it.

Then with Zelas and Benen I returned to the craft receiving room and entered again a smaller craft with them. I do not know exactly what series of air locks the craft enter and leave the mother craft, but there was a large dark section upon the floor in the receiving room and as we entered the smaller craft to leave Zelas pointed it out and told me that was area where the craft left. The trip back was quick and short, and as we drove back to St. Louis I recounted in my mind all the things I had seen. Being alone, I wanted to be able to tell anyone else as much as I could; however, we decided that we would not then tell everyone else of our experiences until we had enough information to relay to the public. Last year at Buck's Convention we were called upon to speak, but we were neither prepared nor expecting that we would be called upon for a speech. I did, however, say a few words and since that time we have delivered several lectures to various groups.

What the Space People are trying to make clear is that Earth is now in a most perilous situation, and faces self-destruction of humanity. In the two years we have contacted the Brothers they have been concerned and talked most frequently about the destructibility of the A and H bomb. Speaking of this destruction, the questions I mentioned earlier come to my mind, and that is concerning the evil flying saucers and evil space people.

First, we must consider the evidence presented. There have been saucers that were reported as having a negative effect upon people by burning them or causing nausea, etc. And in some instances there have been cases reported where people have been assaulted by beings that have emerged from some saucers and actually attacked them. The descriptions of these beings have been generally of a small type of people who were unusually crafty or mischievous and who actually grasp people and attempted to drag them into their craft. Where do these beings come from, and why are they entering this system? No doubt most of you will agree there is a tremendous battle going on between the good and the bad, which concerns all thoughts, actions and influences. From thousands of years ago to the present age this battle between right and wrong has been waged against civilization and has balanced first in favor of the good and righteous, and then turning and swaying in favor of the wicked or evil. This strange course of events has been necessary for certain conditions to prevail upon Earth, so that beneficial results would come about. The devastating bubonic plague that swept Europe in the Dark Ages was indeed a terrible thing and was judged to be just that by the people, but this negative condition actually paved the way for more sanitary conditions. All evil will give way to the good, and all wrong has a right.

The space people that have negative qualities about them are coming from farther space systems, although I do not wish to imply that all space craft from farther systems are evil. Many of the craft from farther systems are very good and are also trying to help Earth; however, it is only those certain evil systems that we should consider when I say those from a farther system than our own. It is these negative beings who are here for the purpose of actually taking people from Earth to indoctrinate them with their ideas, so they in turn will cause confusion and disturbances upon the planet. The true purpose behind this is to prevent harmony and peace, for they are in alliance with those beings living in Earth, who themselves will be forced to leave Earth when peace and brotherhood is completed. The gains that these negative people obtain from their alliance with those other negatives in Earth is not known by us, but it must be quite profitable for them to engage so actively against the Space Brothers who are trying to help Earth. The Space Brothers who are trying to help Earth have to contend with these craft and beings from other less desirable systems, and also have to contend with the disbelieving masses of people who either do not know of the need for harmony and peace or those who do not want to listen to their urgent requests. The job of the Space Brothers is not easy, for it is necessary to prepare the people of Earth to accept their existence, and also to guide them in proper understanding so that peace and co-existence will be possible.

Many people seem to feel that the negative beings are only from planet Earth and consists only of those fallen angels who were cast out of heaven by a Supreme Command from the Most High. Many can quote the proper passages of the Bible and prove that there are fallen angels living here on Earth, who cause the necessary confusion and evil which we here must live among. There are those intelligences of superior powers whom we would call fallen angels living in Earth, but it is not wholly from them that the evil or bad flying saucers come. As you look up into the sky at night you see multitudes of stars, planets and suns moving on in beautiful orbits. However, if you could move out through space and watch the barbarous conditions that exist upon some of these stars you would be shocked. There are some systems advanced in scientific accomplishments to the degree of mastery over space, but those systems have advanced in science alone and have little spiritual advancement. They come here to Earth and to other planets in farther systems to form alliance with those intelligences who will provide them the necessary fulfillment of their evil desires and wishes.

Near miss for UFO fan Philip

A book has uncovered a secret plot which would have seen Prince Philip - whose interest in UFOs is widely documented - meet one of the world's most famous alleged alien abductees - George Adamski.

Polish-American Adamski claimed he had encountered visitors from Venus and had travelled the solar system with them. His book on the supposed encounter became a huge hit, selling more than a million copies.

The proposed meeting in 1959 between Adamski and Philip - the magazine Flying Saucer Review once claimed the royal to be a subscriber - was engineered by aristocrats, including General Sir Frederick Browning - a private secretary to the Queen and husband of writer Daphne du Maurier - and ex-RAF pilot Desmond Leslie - a second cousin of Sir Winston Churchill.

"This alone shows how far these bizarre ideas had penetrated the upper classes and royalty" says Sir David Clarke, co-author of a book, Flying Saucerers - a Social History of UFOlogy.

"There's no doubt from the documentation we have that Prince Philip and his uncle Lord Mountbatten were UFO enthusiasts, and I'm sure Philip would have met Adamski if he felt he could have got away with it. But it looks as if he realised the danger this would place him in - not least the huge potential for embarrassment for the royals if it leaked out.

"He was wisely advised by equerry Sir Peter Horsley. His response is written in Prince Philip's hand across one of the letters offering to arrange the secret meeting. 'Not on your Nellie' wrote Philip. 'He may not be a crank but he's a bit too fanciful for me'"

Still, Clarke says Philip's interest was heartfelt. "As far as I know there has never been any official Buckingham Palace comment on Philip's interest but Sir Peter Horsley confirmed all this to me shortly before his death in 2001" he says.

"He acted as a go-between for Philip and the UFO world, collecting reports made to the RAF and even inviting UFO witnesses to Buckingham Palace. All this material was kept by the Duke's private secretary, so he must have a considerable UFO archive at the Palace"

Surely it's time to open it to the public?

Yes indeed. Sir Peter Horsley was the person who was said to have met the mysterious "Mr. Janus" who claimed to have been from Venus, and who expressed a wish to see Prince Philip. Also, the contactee Sergeant Briggs, who claimed contact on Lord Mountbatten's estate at Broadlands, said they expressed a wish to see Lord Mountbatten. George Hunt Williamson, one of the witnesses to Adamski's first contact, also said on a newsreel that he would like to meet Prince Philip. None of these encounters ever happened.

NOTES AND NEWS

A Journey through Space and Time

In his TV programme A Journey through Space and Time (first broadcast on the 25th anniversary of The Sky at Night, now released on the 50th in the Sky at Night Magazine's CDROM) Patrick makes it quite clear what he thinks of flying saucers. He had two interviews - one with Michael Bentine and the other with Arthur Shuttlewood of Warminster. The first indicates that he is a little more inclined to take the matter seriously, and shows models of various UFO shapes. They then bring up the matter of the divorce of Truman Bethurum, implying that the woman captain Aura Rhanes was responsible, but Patrick (although he says he once met Bethurum, but does not name him) does not bother to get his facts right, saying that she is from Venus when this was not what was said.

The interview with Arthur Shuttlewood went thus:

PM Where do the saucers normally come from?

AS Well normally they come from due north. One finds them hovering over that particular copse. Quite renowned now, that particular copse, as so many people have seen them up here you know.

PM What would you say was your most exciting experience up here?

AS The most unusual or exciting was when one of these small spheroids chased us through the copse. When we turned around and tried to chase it, it just went along at a terrific pace. This was no bigger than a soup plate - it must have been a beacon sent down from the craft to make observations.

CIGARSOVERTHECHANNELISLANDS

The ITV Channel Islands site have a video of an interview with a pilot who saw large UFOs over the Channel Islands recently:

On Monday afternoon Captain Ray Bowyer was piloting a routine passenger flight from Southampton to Alderney. To his and the passengers' surprise, a strange object became visible on the horizon.

Interviewer: You've been a professional pilot for twenty years - you've flown thousands of flights - you're putting your reputation on the line here, so you must truly believe what you saw was very real

Capt. Bowyer: In all my years of experience I've never seen anything like this, and frankly I'd be perfectly happy not to ever again. It's a pretty chilling thing, and from my first sighting of it, maybe fifty miles away, from the actual object, it appeared to be fairly small, but it must have been pretty huge, it must have been very much larger than I thought it was originally. I told Air Traffic Control - they asked me for a size originally - I said about the size of a 737, possibly twice the size, but on reflection seeing the object from forty miles away, it must have been very much bigger than that - maybe a mile across.

Interviewer: Were you scared?

Capt. Bowyer: I wasn't too happy - I was quite glad to get on the ground and have a cup of tea.

Interviewer: This appeared as a solid object - using this pad, could you draw for me what you saw?

Capt. Bowyer: Yes - well getting close to it, through binoculars I could see it was like this - extremely pointed, very long and thin. About two thirds along the fuselage was very dark - this was very brilliant yellow - golden yellow.

Interviewer: What's particularly interesting in this case is that not only did you see it but your passengers saw it, and indeed radar picked it up, can you tell me about that?

Capt. Bowyer: As I understand it there was a plot taken on the Jersey radar to be a couple of miles south of the Cascets lighthouse, and another aircraft flying from the Isle of Man to Gurnsey saw a similar sort of thing.

Interviewer: Would you mind showing us on a chart exactly your course and where you saw these two UFOs

Capt. Bowyer: No trouble at all - position of the first one was just south of the Cascets, the other very close to Guernsey.

Jersey Air Traffic Control said their radar picked up some activity in the area, but says the data can't be taken as evidence of a UFO's presence.

There is also a photograph which may have been taken by one of the passengers of one of the UFOs:

Is this the UFO? Channel Online found this image whilst searching the internet archives... Earlier this week we reported sightings of two large Unidentified Flying Objects off the coast of Guernsey. The mysterious shapes were described as long objects that measured up to a mile wide.

The image was found on a link from the 'Professional Pilot's rumours network' - a forum which discusses the Guernsey sighting. A man named cristofj - with the location 'Guernsey' - wrote on the site: "This image has been doing the rounds on email. Apparently from a passenger breaking mobile phone rules. The message continued: "It could well be strange light on a cloud formation to me." But if this was a cloud - why then did radar screens pick it up?"

Possibly the UFO seen by Capt. Bowyer

Government fails to look into O'Hare UFO
By the Editorial Board of The Exponent
Publication Date: 01/23/07

Earth was visited by aliens in November. Or at least it's possible. Many employees of O'Hare Airport in Chicago have come forward and described a round gray object hovering just below cloud level around 4:30 p.m. on Nov. 7. But since then, there has not been a single probe by the FAA or the government.

It is understandable that every alien spacecraft sighting is not investigated. Simply poking around the Internet for 10 seconds looking for information on UFOs will reveal an astonishing amount of sightings. But there is something different about the O'Hare case. In this instance, many employees and a few pilots have come forward and presented United Airlines (where most of the employees worked) and the FAA with accounts of an object hovering over Terminal C. Six of these individuals have spoken with the media under the condition of anonymity. These individuals, although viewing the aircraft from different vantage points, all describe roughly the same account of the visit, including the object suddenly bursting through the cloud cover and leaving a hole behind.

Both the amount of witnesses and their credibility is extremely high. That is what sets the O'Hare sighting apart from most other sightings. These employees are well-trained mechanics, managers and pilots whose main motivation for reporting the sighting was the safety of airline passengers. But even after such a large amount of people risked their livelihoods and reputations to report a UFO, nobody has taken them seriously.

United refuses to acknowledge that any incident ever occurred, saying there is no record of the event. The FAA has chosen not to investigate, chalking everything up to a weather phenomenon. Why?

By ignoring the statements of a multitude of incredible witnesses, the organizations hope the issue will just go away. It probably will. But this is not a viable course of action. There should be an investigation about the sighting, if for no other reason than the fact that objects flying over restricted airspace could cause accidents killing hundreds of people. Maybe it wasn't a UFO, but the public deserves to know their plane isn't going to be blindsided upon runway approach by a weather balloon. And maybe, during the investigation, we find out what visited O'Hare. The truth is out there.

SEVEN-POINT STARS FOUND BY ROBIN HEATH AT STONEHENGE

These two seven-point stars (Stonehenge internal and external) identical to the ones Tony Wedd found there from the 56 Aubrey Holes, were found again by Robin Heath, co-author of The Measure of Albion. They are with his article "The Marriage of the Sun and Moon", on web site <http://cura.free.fr/decem/06heath.html> The independent finding seems to show that these are real. Tony received in thought communication that the seven-point star, which he used as the badge of the STAR Fellowship, had several meanings - it was the emblem of the Solar Confederation and was also used as components in free energy machines.

THE STAR FELLOWSHIP VIDEO - This video contains three titles:

THE ADAMSKI SCOUTSHIP

The "classic" flying saucer, as photographed by George Adamski. Yet some claim they have never been seen - this video shows otherwise, with numerous independent sightings, including some from the U.K. It also contains George Adamski's own account of his first contact on the California desert, from his talk in London.

A VISIT TO TONY WEDD COUNTRY

A visit to Chiddingstone, the home of Tony Wedd, founder of the STAR Fellowship. See Tony's home, as well as the Chiding Stone, the Bull Rock cave, and Chiddingstone Hoath, all mentioned in Tony's writings, as well as other ley points in the area. Also the talk Skyways and Landmarks, with Tony's own voice and slides.

THE ALBURY SIGHTING

Denis Shipwright gives the details of his sighting from Newlands Corner, Guildford, the day before we went to the site and found a stone with strange markings, which seemed to closely match a photograph of Mars taken two years earlier by Mariner 4 space probe. Details of the Mars picture and its correlations, and UFO sighting as the signals were being received.

£6 inc. postage from the Amskaya address. Please make cheque payable to J. Goddard

THE HIDDEN UNITY and BEGINNINGS

The Hidden Unity looks at the strange phenomenon of subconscious siting of ley points, and notes that places of worship, of all religions and all ages, tend to predominate on leys. The environmental and philosophical implications of this are discussed, and the apparent necessity of worship but irrelevance of doctrine. Two ley centres are given as examples, and investigated in depth - the Shah Jehan Mosque in Woking and the Guru Nanak Sikh Temple, Scunthorpe. There is an appendix by Eileen Grimshaw on the significance of the Pagan religion to this study. Illustrated with photographs, maps and line drawings. £2 plus 30p p&p from the Amskaya address. Please make cheques payable to J. Goddard.

Beginnings is about a series of potentially useful discoveries, mainly made by Jimmy Goddard over a period of about twenty years, but having some overlap with discoveries made by others. For various reasons, the investigations are all in their early stages, and some have not been continued. They include earth energy detection, natural antigravity, subconscious siting, ley width, and the solar transition effect. There is also a chapter on cognitive dissonance - a psychological factor which seems to have been at the root of all bigotry - scientific, religious and other - down the ages. The booklet is concluded with an account of the discovery of leys by Alfred Watkins. £2 plus 30p p&p from the Amskaya address. Please make cheques payable to J. Goddard.

EARTH PEOPLE, SPACE PEOPLE

In 1961, Tony Wedd produced a manuscript Earth Men, Space Men, detailing many claims of extraterrestrial contact. It was never published, and I had thought it was lost, though it has recently been located - Tony had given it to Timothy Good. To try to make up for the loss in a much more modest size, this booklet was prepared. As well as giving details of some of the more prominent contact claims, there are articles on the history of the STAR Fellowship and some of its personalities, evidence for life in the Solar System and investigation into extraterrestrial language.

£2 plus 30p p&p from the Amskaya address. Please make cheques payable to J. Goddard.

THE LEGACY OF TONY WEDD

This CD-ROM is an electronic form of the travelling exhibition Tony planned, using his voice, writing, photographs and drawings to illustrate his research and findings in the fields of flying saucers, landscape energies and lost technology.

£9.99 from the Amskaya address. Please make cheques payable to J. Goddard.

AMSKAYA is the newsletter of the STAR Fellowship, a continuation of the organisation formed in 1960 by Tony Wedd of Chiddingstone, who held that contact was the way ahead for flying saucer investigation. £2 for four quarterly issues from J. Goddard, Fostercourt Lodge, 192, Stroude Road, Egham, Surrey, TW20. 9UT. Please make cheques payable to J. Goddard. IF YOUR SUBSCRIPTION IS DUE AN "X" WILL FOLLOW THIS SENTENCE:
